MASTER OF EDUCATION (M.ED.)

VIU's Master of Education (M.Ed.) degree maintains the university's mission of striving to embrace freedom of thought and diverse interpretations of human experiences, aspects that are vital in the field of education and in a global context. Our goal is to graduate students who display and make use of their moral, intellectual, and professional excellence to serve as role models for and educate future generations and make a difference in their communities.

MASTER OF ARTS IN TESOL (MA IN TESOL)

The Master of Arts in TESOL (MA in TESOL) program prepares future graduates for the world of work as language teaching specialists in the field of English language teaching. Graduates of the TESOL program are qualified to work in many different educational environments both in the US and abroad

MASTER OF ARTS in TESOL

“ It makes me happy to see I can pursue my dreams without taking time from my family or work. ”

Vega Beloqui Ortiz, MA in TESOL (Online)

THE MASTER OF SCIENCE (MS) IN APPLIED LINGUISTICS

The Master of Science (MS) in Applied Linguistics at Virginia International University is designed to foster the skills necessary to improve the effectiveness of language instruction, content delivery, and program efficacy. The program seeks to be a pioneer in the field of language teaching by building a curriculum that includes the recommendations from employers in the community during the creation and development of new courses' overall goals. This provides graduates with a needed edge in their job search, as the curriculum is focused on providing employers what they are looking for in current and future candidates. Concentrations are available in Multilingual Education, Program Management, and Educational Technology.
