

School of Public Administration & International Affairs

DREAM . DISCOVER . ACCOMPLISH .

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION & INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

Programs

Master of Science in International Relations (MIR) - with two concentrations:

- International Economic Development
- International Business

Masters of Arts in Public Administration (MPA) – with three concentrations:

- Health Care Administration and Public Health
- Public Management
- Information Systems

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Virginia International University's Master of Science in International Relations is a graduate degree that focuses on the study of foreign policy and international economic development and business. It includes instruction in international relations theory, foreign policy analysis, global economic development, international law and comparative and strategic analysis of international organizations, specific countries and regions. The program combines a scholarly, academic approach with a significant element of hands-on practical experience which exposes students to some of the best policies and practices in the field.

MASTERS OF ARTS IN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Virginia International University's Master of Public Administration is designed to prepare students for a career in public management or administration. The program includes instruction in administrative theory, program and policy development, human resources, finance project management and effective negotiation. The hands-on experiential component of the program exposes students to some of the best administrative practices at the local, state and national levels and enhances their capacity to solve complex administrative issues and oversee a diverse and dynamic workforce.